AN ANGLO-AFRICAN PROBLEM.

MATTERS BEFORE PARLIAMENT AT THE AUTUMN SESSION.

MR. REDMOND'S ATTITUDE-DISCONTENTED RADI-CALS-THE FABIAN SOCIETY-PARISH COUN-CILS-MR. HEALY ON PARNELL'S SUPER-

STITIONS - TROUBLE WITH A GAILTY BURLESQUE. (BY CABLE TO THE TRIBUNE.)

copyright: 1893: By The Tribune Assection London, Nov. 4.-There seems every likelihood of an early settlement of what may be called the military aspect of the Matabele question. Last week's fighting was a brilliant success for Mr. Rhodes's company; and though Lobengula retains two-thirds of his army intact, with another ally approaching to help him in the shape of the rainy season, all indications this morning point to the defeat of the Matabele preover, this morning's news leads to the belief that the surrounding tribes, who have old scores to rub off with Lobengula, will cut off all retreat across the Zambesi. The Barotse are closing the north bank of that stream for nearly three degrees of longitude. Hence, unless military events take a sudden change, there is early likelihood of Lobengula's capture or sub-

A more difficult issue than conquest is now coming into prominence. Having, to all appearance, conquered Matabeleland, the great question that now concerns the Government is what to do with it. The faddist Radicals, led by Mr. Labouchere, ignore all the benefit that may arise to humanity through stopping Lobengula's savage methods of warfare and refinements of cruelly. They see in recent incidents an opportunity of crushing the aspirations of a powerful and wealthy Company managed by leading Tories, whose action, say they, is stimulated objects of plunder. According to their view, the Company desires to annex Matabeleland for the sake of its rich gold fields and agricultural uplands. The Radicals, therefore, are seeking to induce the Government to thwart the Combeleland into its own hands as a Crown Colony, Imperial control.

The opinions of Radicals are very much divoice in the future settlement, they greatly differ | does those of ours." as to what that settlement shall be. Daily News," "The Chronicle," "The Manchester Guardian" and "The Westminster Gazette," each inspired by its own coterie of Radical politicians, darken counsel by their divergent recommendations. Mr. Rhodes's friends, on the other hand, insist that he shall be allowed to reap the reward of his own exertions. The Company's forces were an active factor in last week's victories, and at the Cape as well as in England the claims of the Company for the lion's share of spoils are widely recognized. In fact, the Cape Government, of which Mr. Rhodes is Prime Minister, has formally warned the home authorities to limit their interference; and public opinion throughout South Africa, still smarting under the disaster of Majuba Hill, is exceedingly hostile to anything which threatens to curb colonial aspirations. In truth, it is not too much to say that if the Imperial Government allowed itself to be influenced by such demands as those suggested by Mr. Labouchers, large and powerful sections of the residents of South Africa, probably including the Cape Government, would avail themselves of this incident to bring about secession.

Mr. Gladstone will have no easy task to satisfy South Africa on the one hand, and his missionary reports of Matabelan horrors, will support the Cabinet in generously treating Mr. Rhodes and his Company.

more weeks to Parliamentary business, and everybody seems in ill-humor at the prospects of humdrum legislation which lie before them. Next week Mr. Redmond will take measures to learn, if he can, what the Government intend to do with evicted tenants, and upon their answer will depend the amount of support to be given to Mr. Gladstone by the Parnellites. Efforts will also be made to discover, if possible, what Mr. Gladstone means to do with the Home Rule bill. Any intention to hang up the subject next session, as indicated by Mr. Asquith, will lead to graver results than the secession of Mr. Redmond and his party of nine sup-

On the other hand, English Radicals are demanding more loudly than ever that the leading points of the Newcastle Programme be no longer delayed. The Fabian Society is not a body of much importance, but owing to the control which some of its members possess over certain newspapers and magazines, and to the undoubted cleverness of one or two of its writers, that body is not without influence. In "The Fortnightly Review" they have raised their heel against their friends, the Government. Their indictment is couched in a wealth of adjectives, which show the warmth of their conviction, and their chief grievance is that Ministers are wasting their efforts to satisfy the Irish. The English wageworkers, say the Fabians, do not care a dump either way about Irish Home Rule. "The Fortnightly" manifesto seeks to show that the solidarity of the Government is a hollow sham, made up of fractions who have no sympathy with each other. The Fabians declare that a general election at the present moment would undoubtedly return a Unionist majority to power. They did their pest to put this Government in office on the Newcastle Programme, and in hope that Mr. Gladstone's Ministry would accomplish great soed. They do not propose to join the Conservative party, although their manifesto admits that a large measure of social reform was adopted by the last Tory Government. These gentlemen prefer to retire into their own camp. The Fabian Society does not count for much in serious politics, but this manifesto is a significant straw to indicate the way the wind is

We have no official information of any further Government business during the autumn session than the Parish Councils and Employers' Liability bills. In regard to the former, the Conservative and Church party have been carfying on an active campaign in the provinces with the object of keeping control of their schools and charities out of the hands of the village barbers and blacksmiths, who will be elected to the Parish Councils. Mr. Fowler, who explained the measure on Thursday evening, gave strong reassurances which have disarmed much of the opposition. Mr. Fowler's

"Oh, he'il pass in a crowd, I guess," Eckels replied.

The man was astonished.
"Not very respectful, my boy," he said.
Then he pulled out his paper and began to read again. It was a dull morning, and no one chanced to come in. The man read for an hour or so, during which time he pulled out his watch every few minutes, looked at it, grunted, and then resumed his reading. At last, having read even the advertisements, he here wils paper down and exclaimed: "Well, this is a nice how d'ye do. Say, my boy, what time does the Controller get down?"

"About 9 o'clock," Eckels replied.
"Well, it's now after II," the man said. "Where is he to-day?"
"I am the Controller," Eckels replied.
The man looked at him for a moment, turned red in the fare and gasped:
"Well, I'm — Say, don't say a word of this to any one and the dinner's on me. I am Mr.
"Well, I'm — Say, don't say a word of this ony one and the dinner's on me. I am Mr.
"You he said.
"Not very respectful, my boy," he said.
Then he pulled out his paper and began to read again. It was a dull morning, and no one chanced to come in. The man read for an hour or so, during which time he pulled out his vatic heyen again. The man read for an hour or so, during which time he pulled out his vatic heyen again. The man read for an hour or so, during which time he pulled out his paper and began to read again. It was a dull morning, and no one chanced to come in. The man read for an hour or so, during which time he pulled out his paper and began to read again. It was a dull morning, and no one chanced to come in. The man read for an hour or so, during which time he pulled out his paper and began to read again. It was a dull morning, and no one chanced to come in. The man read for an hour or so, during which time he pulled out his value here.

"Well, this is a nice how d'ye do. Say, my boy, what time does the Controller." Eckels replied.

"I am the Controller." Eckels replied.

"I am the Controller." Eckels replied.

"I am the fare and gasped."

"I am the form the man read for an ho creasing influence of trades unions and the extraordinary demands which are often made upon employers in the interests of unionism have convinced all classes that the introduction of the principle of arbitration must some day be recognized as a part, though a subsidiary part, of the judicial system. The enormous harm done to the trades and all classes, as well as discomfort to private householders, by the recent scarcity of coal has amounted to a national disaster.

Mr. T. M. Healy has contributed to "The Westminster Gazette" a remarkable study of his late chieftain, Mr. Parnell. Considering how little Mr. Healy loved his leader, and how deep was Mr. Parnell's contempt for the "guttersparrow," one cannot but admit the absence of any urfairness in Mr. Healy's writing. The chief object of Mr. Healy in producing this sketch seems to have been to show up the superstitious side of Mr. Parnell's character. Very small, indeed, must be the number of educated men who are swayed by the strange notions that appear to have influenced not only the ordinary but the greater actions of Mr. Parnell's life. Mr. Healy attributes all this to an old nurse, named Mrs. Tupenny, who seems to have instilled into the mind of the young patriot all the details and terrors of Irish superstition.

For instance, so unlucky did Mr. Parnell con sider the number thirteen that when drafting one of his greatest measures he was horrified to find it included thirteen clauses, and he insisted on the number being increased to fourteen. He objected to the spirit decanter circulating in the wrong direction, snarled at one of his best friends for offering to assist him to salt, and showed something like a feeling of horror when he witnessed three candles burning on his bedroom table. Most people know his dislike to the color green, but this is the first time we have heard of Mr. Parnell's pitching out of a railway carriage window the green handkerchiefs and smoking caps presented to him by admiring audiences who wished to honor him in the na-

"The Athenaeum" gives a highly favorable review of Mr. Isaac N. Ford's "Tropical America," just published in London. The reviewer, course of a long article on the book, writes: "His experiences are given in crisp, vigorous language; his capacity for grasping pany's intentions, and either take over Mata- the true and rejecting the false calls for high commendation; his impartiality is unquestiona or restore Lobengula as a British vassal under ble, although his readers may not agree with all his conclusions; and his views of British policy demand special consideration, as coming vided, for though they all agree in deriding the from an American who sees the shortcomings idea that the Company shall have a determining of his own Government quite as keenly as he

> The intervention of Turkish diplomacy is a matter of so rare occurrence as to provoke surprise whenever we hear of it. Some months ago the Turkish representative in Paris startled Europe by protesting against a dramatic performance in that capital which, in his opinion, burlesqued the saintly character of Mahomet. The French authorities smiled at the zeal of the Caliph's representative, and acquiesced in his request for suppression of the offending piece. This week we have another experience of Turkish zeal nearer home. The Gaiety Company recently produced a burlesque of "Don Juan," which has already been the occasion of several contretemps. In the first instance, the Lord Chamberlain refused the piece because it introduced a President of the Divorce Court and named him "Sir Francis May." This colorable imitation of the name of Sir Francis Jeune, the popular judge who separates unbanny wives and husbands, was altered, and the piece ran happily for four nights.

Then a gentleman from the Turkish Embassy, doubtless delighting in memories of Don Juan's performances at Constantinople, looked in at the Galety to see how the infidel treated that memorable event. He was horrified to find that his august master, the Sultan, was not only bur-Radical faddist friends on the other. The bulk lesqued, but even kicked about the harem floor of English opinion, and certainly the opinion of by the representative of Don Juan. The attenreligious bodies, who are largely influenced by the Lord Chamberlain was bravely dor, and the manager of the theatre was as striped silk, with a bertha of white lace over black gravely requested to withdraw everything that satin; Mrs. Charles B. Alexander were pale blue dor, and the manager of the theatre was as The reassembling of Parliament for the au- might seem to reflect upon the credit or retumn session showed very little disposition on spectability of a friendly sovereign. With conthe part of the members for serious work. Both siderable ingenuity, Mr. George Edwardes sides regret the necessity of devoting seven pleased all parties by altering the name of the person to Jabez Pacha, in evident allusion to the notorious swindler, Jabez Spencer Balfour, who just now is enjoying himself at Buenos Ayres, and is very much wanted in London for frauds connected with the Liberator Building Society.

SAYING GOODBY TO NEW-YORK.

RICHARD MANSFIELD AND MR. AND MRS. KEN DAL MAKE FAREWELL SPEECHES.

Richard Mansfield closed his engagement at Herrmann's Theatre last night, and, according to his custom, had a farewell word to say to his audience and to the theatre-going public generally. He played Shylock in "The Merchant of Venice," and he spoke in reply to repeated calls at the end of the trial scene. He returned thanks for the sup-port given to the play, on behalf of his wife, his company and himself, and said: "I am especially grateful to you for your presence here this even-ing, for I am sure I should not have come out to see myself on such a night as this." This senti-ment was received with a good deal of applause, ment was received with a good deal of applause, and Mr. Mansfield continued: "I do not know how to accept that applause. It sounded like an agreement, but your uniform kindness assures me that you do not mean it so. I do not know of anything that an actor likes better than applause, unless it is an audience, and if there were no audience there could be no applause, though there is a case on record in which there was only one man in the house, and he insisted on encoring everything. It was a venture for us to present Shakespeare in so smail a house as this. It was a good deal to ask you to come into such a small theatre, and to come upstairs to see it. It has often been stated to the contrary, but when you see Shakespeare well done, as I hope that this has been, I know that you will always come to see it. And now I have one more favor to ask of you. When others come, with all the scenery and paraphernalia for a gorgeous production, do not forget this little stage and what we have tried to do for you on it. And now, let me thank you once more for all your kindness to us, and we hope that you will let us come back to you soon again."

At the Star Theatre the Kendals closed their engagement hast night with a performance of "The Silver Sheli." At the end of the play there were

WHY MAYOR ROODY IS LIKE A RAINBOW At the regular Monday Preachers' Meeting, at the Methodist Book Concern, on Monday, the Rev. Mr. Montgomery propounded the following conun-drum: rum;
"Why is Mayor Boody like a rainbow?"
"Because he is all hues (Hugh's)."

DISRESPECTFUL TO THE CONTROLLER An old banker walked into Controller Eckels's office the other morning and took a vacant chair by the desk at which Mr. Eckels sat writing. He pulled out a paper, but Eckels kept on writing. Finally the man, tired of waiting, jammed the paper into his pocket, ejaculating as he did so:

"That Senate beats h-:"
Mr. Eckels looked up.
"I say," the man repeated, "that that Senate beats h-- Here I thought it would have passed the Voorhees bill long ago." From The Chicago Post.

Mr. Eckels looked up.
"I say," the man repeated, "that that Senate beats h—. Here I thought it would have passed the Voorhees bill long ago."
"So did I." Mr. Eckels replied.
"What did the Controller think?" the man asked. Mr. Eckels sighed. "The Controller is of the same opinion," he replied.
"I am giad to hear it," the man said. "Shows him a man of sense. Controller's pretty good man. I hear. Is that so?"
"Oh, he'll pass in a crowd, I guess," Eckels replied.
The man was astonished.

THE WEEK IN SOCIETY,

The gay and fashionable season in town has not yet begun, although the great number of people he in the last week would seem to denote that it had. Society for the most part is just now living in trunks, making flying visits to town from Tuxes, for the most part is just now living in trunks, making flying visits to town from Tuxes, for the most part is just now living in trunks, making flying visits to town from Tuxed, Long Island, Westchester and up the Hudson River, engaged in superintending and arranging the details in their winter homes, ranny of which will be ready in their winter homes, ranny of which will be ready in their winter homes, ranny of which will be ready in their winter homes, ranny of which will be ready in their winter homes, ranny of which will be ready in their winter homes, ranny of which will be ready in their winter homes, ranny of which will be ready in their winter homes, ranny of which will be ready in their winter homes, ranny of which will be ready in their winter homes, ranny of which will be ready in their winter homes, ranny of which will be ready in their winter homes, ranny of which will be ready in their winter homes, ranny of which will be ready in their winter homes, ranny of which will be ready in their winter homes, ranny of which will be ready in their winter homes, ranny of which will be ready in their winter homes, ranny of which will be ready in their winter homes, ranny of which will be ready in their winter homes, ranny of which will be ready in their winter homes, ranny of which will be ready in their winter homes, ranny of which will be ready in their winter homes, ranny of which will be ready in their winter homes, ranny of which will be ready to followed by a large reception at No. 19 Pierrepont.

It will be married to George the converted to George the proper of the same and the claim of the will be ready to the proper of the same and the claim of the will be ready to the followed by a large reception at No. 19 Pierrepont.

It will be marr

asked to St. George's Church to without the present selection and the present selection and the selection of Madeleine Lewis looked extremely handsome, in white silk and chiffon; Miss Marie de Garmendia was attired in a dainty gown of white satin, lined satin brocaded in wide stripes and trimmed with lace. Mrs. George Griswold was in one of the most striking gowns in the room, pale yellow satin, made with huge umbrella sleeves, and a bodice of pearl-colored velvet; Mrs. Robert Goelet wore a rich gown of pansy shades of crepe and satin; Miss Craw-ford, one of the season's debutantes, was extremely handsome in a gown of rose-pink chiffon; Miss Mas-sie Strong was in a bright red gown of crepe and silk; Mrs. Alfred Seton, jr., was in a dress of yel-low satin; Mrs. Frederick H. Benedict wore a gown of pale yellow satin brocaded with flowers, the waist being of pale blue velvet with a deep bertha of point duchesse lace; Mrs. Harry McVickar was in a gown of pink satin, with trimmings of a delicate shade of blue satin; Mrs. Grenville Kane was in white satin, with trimmings of blue satin and gold white satin, with trimmings of bus sating passementerie; Miss Renee Coudert was in pale blue satin, with deep flounces of chiffon; Mrs. blue satin, with deep nounces of chinon, Miss.
Richard Mortimer was in a rich gown of brocade and point lace; Mrs. Addison Cammack was in a gown of white satin brocade and point lace, and wore a corsage bouquet of purple violets.

Tuxedo was gay last week before the ball. Several dinner parties were given at the clubhouse and at the various cottages. On Wednesday night Mr. and Mrs. Robert Goelet gave a large dinner, and on Thursday Mrs. Alexander T. Van Nest gave a luncheon at the clubhouse. Her guests were Mrs. George Griswold, Mrs. Alfred Seton, jr., Miss Post Miss Varnum, Mrs. Henning, Mrs. A. E. Foster, Mrs. Grenville Kane, Mrs. F. de Peyster Foster, Mrs. Nellson Brown, Miss Waldo and Miss Brown. Election Day, which, like Thanksgiving, is looked upon by the follower of the hounds as his special day, will this year again be monopolized by the hunting clubs, all of which are to have runs with the hounds, elaborate breasfasts, luncheons and dinners given in their honor. The marriage of Miss Carola Livingston, daughter of Johnston Livingston, to Count de Laugier-Villar, which, it was expected, would be celebrated in St. Patrick's Cathedral on Wednesday, November 15, will not take place until some time in December, as Count de Laugier-Villar has been obliged to return to Port-au-Prince on business.

The subscription balls of the winter season having been already announced, it is now in order mention some of the debutantes. The number seems to be considerably less than last year of even the previous year. Some of the best known are: Miss Kitty Hoppin, who will be introduced at a tea given by her mother, Mrs. W. W. Hoppin, on December 6; Miss Post, daughter of Mrs. George B. Post, who will be introduced on December 8, and Miss Stein, daughter of Mrs. A. W. Stein, whose coming out is set for November 16.

The details for the first of the Monday evening dances, which will be given at Sherry's on De cember 11, have been arranged. Harry le Grand Cannon has been selected to lead the cotillon on that occasion. The patronesses of this set of dances are Mrs. Astor, Mrs. John Jacob Astor, Mrs. I. Townsend Burden, Mrs. Lloyd Brice, Mrs. George H. Bend, Mrs. Edmund L. Baylles, Mrs. Henry A. Coster, Mrs. K. James Cross, Mrs. H. Le Grand Cannon, Mrs. Robert L. Clarkson, Mrs. Henry Ciews, Mrs. Frederick J. De Peyster, Mrs. Robert Goelet, Mrs. Ogden Goelet, Mrs. Valentine G. Hall, Mrs. John T. Hail, Mrs. Frederick Rhinelander Jones, Mrs. Lawrence Kip, Mrs. Robert R. Livingston, Mrs. J. Pierpont Morgan, Mrs. Robert B Minturn, Mrs. Stanley Mortimer, Mrs. John W. Minturn, Mrs. Henry G. McVickar, Mrs. Thomas Newbold, Mrs. Frank Key Pendleton, Mrs. Henry Parish, jr., Mrs. George L. Rives, Miss Roosevelt Mrs. William Douglas Sloane, Mrs. W. Watts Sherman, Mrs. H. McKay Twombly, Mrs. Paul Woodworth, Mrs. George A. Robbins, Mrs. Ben-jamin Wells, Mrs. Thomas W. Ward, Mrs. George Peabody Wetmore and Mrs. Buchanan Winthrop.

Peabody Wetmore and Mrs. Buchanan Winthrop. The second and last of these dances will be given on January 22.

The weddings of the coming week will be as follows: November 7-Miss Rosalle Allen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Allen, to Dr. Charles Henry May; November 8-Miss Laura Livingston, to daughter of the late Robert L. Livingston, to Allan Percy Cumming, at the country seat of the bride's uncle, Henry A. Taylor, Milford, Conn.; Miss Ahna Prince Fraser, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred A. Fraser, to Thomas Morton Paton Mills, at the bride's home, No. 70 West Fifty-mills, at the bride's home, No. 70 West Fi

City.

Miss Edith Thain, of No. 29 East Eighty-third-st., sailed yesterday with friends on La Bretagne to join her uncle and aunt in Parls, with whom she will spend a good portion of a year travelling in foreign lands.

The Sketch Club had a monthly dinner and meeting at its rooms, No. 1,473 Broadway, last night. Hughson Hawley spoke on "Water-Color Rendering." There was also a musical entertainment.

The series of dances under the patronage of Mrs. C. B. Altken which have been given at the Mendelssohn Assembly Rooms for the last three years will not be continued this season.

The nuptials of George L. Nichols, of Brooklyn, and Mrs. J. Fitz Herbert Ruxton, daughter of George H. Chickering, of Boston, will be celebrated at Emmanuel Church, Boston, at noon on Tuesday, November H. The ceremony will be private, those present being restricted to the families of the bride and bridegroom. Mr. Nichols is a member of the well-known law firm of Masten & Nichols, No. 145 Broadway.

THE DRAMA.

MR. MANSFIELD.

Mr. Mansfield closed his engagement of four weeks at Herrmann's Theatre last night, and he will proceed now to other cities. He has deeply pleased this community, and he has advanced and strengthened his reputation as an intellectual actor by his picturesque, tasteful and schorallike revival of "The Merchant of Venice," and by his imperia and sympathetic performance of Shylock. A long remembrance of the stage does not recall a first performance of Shylock commensurate with that of Mr. Mansfield, in depth of passion, vehemence of delivery, variety of felicitous illustrative embellishment, and the sustained preservation of Oriental character. Miss Cameron, also, has done herself honor by her sweet, delicate and gracious embodi-ment of the very difficult part of Portia.

Whenever and wherever Mr. Mansfield may pre-sent "The Merchant of Venice" his treatment of that beautiful comedy will deserve, and no doubt will obtain, the best attention of the most cultivated and thoughtful people. The ambition of Mr. Mansfield, to hold his rank among the foremost of Shakespearian actors, is very worthy. If, with his earnest nature, fine spirit, ample equipment and resolute courage, he be not the hope of the American stage in serious drama, it is not easy to see can stage in serious drama, it is not easy to see where that hope may be found. A passing word of welcome and congratulation, in the rapid and evanescent record of daily journalism, can do but little for an actor. His victory depends upon himself. But it has been a pleasure to say that word for Mr. Manstleid—whose past has been so rich in noble achievement, and whose future, it is earnestly hoped, will amply and splendidly fulfil the brilliant auguries of his past.

HONORING THE CHINESE SEVEN SISTERS. From The San Francisco Call.

There was no outward and visible sign of festivity in Chinatown yesterday, but, nevertheless, high festival was held in the bosoms of Mongolian families.

festival was held in the bosoms of Monzellan families.

For weeks past the Chinese was have been preparing to celebrate the Tsat Uct. A deventh month, seventh day), the time at which the seven sisters, who for many years have graced the Chinese calendar, are supposed to make their periodical return to earth.

The Tsat Uct Cho'h began yesterday evening, and will be continued this evening. No man is allowed to participate in the rejoicings, or even to witness them. For these two days the Chinese women are the rulers of the household. The men amiably retire and let them manage things their own way.

Decorations form an important part in the ceremonies. All sorts of colored silk, lamps and artificial flowers are hung about the rooms. The tables are made particularly gorgeous, and are loaded down with fruit, candy and other delicacles, off which the spirits of the sisters are supposed to feast before the Chinatown women open the banquet.

feast before the Chinatown women open the banquet.

The thoughtful Mongolians provide for the outer as well as the inner comforts of their spirits. Across the rooms are stretched clothes lines covered with paper garments. Yesterday evening when the ceremonies opened there was a great burning of paper skirts and tunics, ribbons and handkerchiefs. The spirits found themselves provided with enough wardrobes to last them many years.

After propitiating the seven sisters by these offerings the women of Chinatown humbly implored their blessing and protection, and fell to upon the offerings that covered the tables. The remains of the feast were put aside for to-day's ceremonies.

The seven sisters are supposed to be the patron saints of young and virtuous girls. When a Mongolian maiden wishes to learn a difficult task or to invent a new pattern in embroidery she prays to the seven, and her wish is supposed to be forthwith granted. As a Chinese girl expressed it yesterday, to a "Cail" reporter, "They help girls be clever."

The legend of the seven sisters is a well-known

W. C. Van Horne, president of the Canadian Pacific W. C. Van Horne, pressurent of the Canquan Pacing Railroad, arrived in this city yesterday on the Lucania, having made a hasty trip to England. He said to a Tribune reporter, who saw him at the Waldorf Hotel yesterday. "I was much pleased to hear on arriving here that the United States Senate had repealed the Silver Purchase act. It will unloubtedly affect business favorably in this country and facilitate the sale of American securities abroad. The silver struggle in the Senate attracted an immense amount of attention in England.

"As for the railroads, the outlook for the winter is that the roads east of the Mississippi River will do a good business. Those west of the Mississippi will be affected by the de-pression of business in the silver States. The Canadian railroads have been little affected by the hard times in the United States. The Canadian Facilie is doing a satis factory business, with excellent prospects for the future."

Mr. Van Horne left this city for Montreal at 6 o'clock

THE CONDITION OF GEORGE KEMP.

George Kemp, who lives at No. 720 Fifth-ave., has seen seriously ill for several weeks. It was said at his home last evening that his condition was somewhat improved and that he was resting quietly. The avenue in front of the house is covered with tan bark to deaden the noise of passing vehicles.

Urbana Wine Co.'s
"GOLD SEAL" CHAMPAGNE.
For sale by all leading wine dealers and grocers. Highest Award to Lundborg. Eight Medals and Eight Diplomus at World's Fair.

BIGELOW-On Thursday, November 2d, 1893, at her late residence, 90 Greene-ave., Brooklyn, Jane Brown Steb-bins, widow of Asa Bigelow, in the 81st year of her age. Funeral services from the Church of the Messlah, Greene and Clermont aves., Sunday, November 5th, at 3 o'clock p. m. p. m. EAMES—On Nov. 4th, Mehitable, wildow of the late Luther Eames, of Brooklyn, aged 92 years. Funeral from the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Goo. P. Hunt, St. West Stitlest, on Tuesday, Nov. 7th, at 10:30

Hunt, S1 West S7th-st., on Tuesday, Nov. 7th, at 10:30 a. m.

HILL-November 4th, at her residence, 333 West 19thst., Abbie J., beloved wife of Wm. G. Hill.
Funeral services Tuesday evening, S o'clock, at her late residence.

ROPINSON-Entered into rest in her sixteenth year after 2 brief illness, Grave Irving Robinson, daughter of James A. Robinson, granddaughter of the late John B. Kitching.

Relatives and friends are invited to her funeral at St. Stephen's Church, 40th-st., between Fifth and Sixth aves., at 10 o'clock, Monday, November 6th.

STARR-On Tunsday, November 2d, Charles J. Starr, in the eighty-fifth year of his age.

Funeral services at the residence of his brother. Egbert Starr, No. 22 West 48th-st., on Sunday, at half-past 2 o'clock.

STEVENS-At Chateau de Rubodauges, Nermandle France, en October 30th, Elizabeth Gray, Gaughter of Alexander H. and Mary A. Stevens.

A memorial service will be held at Trinity Church, Hewlett's, L. 1., on Monday, the 6th lost., at half-past 4 o'clock.

Trino leaves Long Island City at 3:30 olclock; returning, lett's, L. I., on Montay, the Oth note, at many o'clock.

Train leaves Long Island City at 3:30 o'clock; returning, leaves Hewletts at 5:20 o'clock.

The family and Iriends are respectfully invited to attend.

VIDAL—at Jersey City, N. J., on Friday, November 3d, 1893, William Ross Vidal, in the 5th year of his age.

Relatives and friends are invited to attend the funeral services at St. Paul's P. E. Church, Duncanave., Jersey City, on Sunday November 5th, 4 p. m.

WHITE-Entered into rest November 4th. 1893, at his res den.e, North Plainfield, N. J., William White, in his 700 Relatives and friends are invited to attend the funeral services at his late residence on Tuesday, 7th instant, at 3:30 p. m.
Carriages will be in waiting upon the arrival of the 1:30 p. m. train from foot of Liberty-st.

Special Notices. A .- By the Fifth Avenue Auction Rooms,

238 FIFTH AVENUE. WM. B. NORMAN, AUCTIONEER. A REMARKABLE SALE OF A Very Choice Collection of

ANTIQUE FURNITURE, PORCELAINS AND POTTERY, INCLUDING LOUIS XIV., XV., XVI., CHIPPENDALE, EMPIRE SHERATON, and COLONIAL FURNITURE, Sevres, Delt. Capo di Monte, and Dresden Porcelains, Schield Plated Ware, antique gold frame Mantel Mirrors, Sconces, convex Mirrors, antique Oriental Rugs, Marqueterie Tables, Desks, Cabinets, brass and iron Andirons and ration of very desirable objects.

EXHIBITION MONDAY AND TUESDAY, NOV. 6 AND 7, from 9 A. M. TO 6 P. M. SALE BY AUCTION. WEDNESDAY, THURSDAY & FRIDAY,

Fenders, the whole forming a wonderfully attractive aggre

Nov. 8, 9, and 10, at 2 o'clock.

Special Notices

The Crown Lavender Satts.

A new revention of senter and refreshment you get the genuine. Always in crown-stoppe A.-25 to 49 per cent saved on Groceries, Whee, Liquors, Teas, Coffees, Canned Goods, Hams, Bacon, Produce, Fruita, Butter, etc., sold at wholesale prices in reasonable quantities; goods delivered free in and out, of the vity. Send for price list. ASPELL & COMPANY, 314-316 Greenwich-ser.

Poreign mails for the week ending November 11 will close (p. ompily in all cases) at this office, as follows:

Dwing to certain requirements of Postas Union Regulations no supplementary mails will be made up on the Prers of the Watte Star, Cunard of Havre final steamers between the 1st and 78th of November.

SUNDAY—At '3 p. m. for Costa Rica, via Limon, per s. s. A. Dumpis, from New-Oricans; at 8:39 p. in. for St. Pierre-Miqueion, per steamer from North Synney.

MONDAY—At 12 m. for St. Thomas and St. Croix, via St. Thomas, per brig Nettic; at 12 m. for Porto Rico direct, per s. s. Gallina; at 1 p. m. for Cape Colony and Metal, per s. s. Straits of Dover, via Capecown; at 3 p. m. for Belize, Puerto Cortez and Gustemaia, per s. s. Briakwates, from New-Orieans; at 6:30 p. m. for Cha and Japas, per steamer from Vancouver (a.tters must be directed "via Vancouver").

10 ESMAY—At 5:30 a. m. for Europe, per s. s. Spree, via Soutampton and Bremen (letters for their parts of Brail and the La Plata countries must be directed "per Origon"); at 1 p. m. for Fara, Maranham and Cearx, per s. s. Origin (letters for other parts of Brail and the La Plata countries must be directed "per Origon"); at 3 p. m. for Europe, per s. s. Grigon (letters for other parts of Brail and the La Plata countries must be directed "per Origon"); at 3 p. m. for Furope, per s. s. Grigon (letters for other parts of Brail and the La Plata countries must be directed "per Origon"); at 3 p. m. for Europe, per s. s. WEDDESDAY—At 2 a. m. for Europe, per s. s.

cara, per a. a. or determined the directed "per Origan"); at '3 p. m. for Bluefields, per a. a. Gussle, from New-Origans.

WEDNESDAY—At 2 a. m. for Europe, per s. a. Mexico-ficians.

WEDNESDAY—At 2 a. m. for Furepe, per s. a. Mexico-ficians.

WEDNESDAY—At 2 a. m. for Ireland must be directed "per Paris"); at 2:30 a. m. for Ireland, per a. a. Majestic, via Quiconstown (etters for other parts of Europe must be directed "per Majestic"); at 3:30 a. m. for Bluefields, per a. a. Modeste, via Quiconstand (via Antwerp (etters must be directed "per Nourdland"); at 8 a. m. for Fortune Island, Hayti (except Jeremie) and Savantila, etc., per s. s. Andes; at 1 p. m. for China, per s. s. Yucatan, via Hawan; at '3 p. m. for Bluefields, per s. s. A. Zambrano, from New-Orieans; at '3 p. m. for Puerto Corter, per s. s. Wandester, from New-Orieans.

THEINSDAY—At 1 p. m. (supplementary 1:30 p. m. for Director of the per s. s. Origans, at 1 p. n. (supplementary 1:30 p. m.) for Nussun, N. P. and Santiato Coba, per s. s. Nuzzara; at 6:30 p. m. for Australia and Hawaii, per steamer from Vancouver (letters must be directed "via Vancouver").

FINDAY—At 9 a. m. for Nussun, N. P. and Santiato Coba, per s. s. Nexport via to directed "per Nussun Anderson (except Cosa Elca) and South Pacific ports, per s. s. Newport via Colon (letters for other parts of Mexico must be directed "per Nussun"); at 10 a. m. for Fortune Island, Juncica and Jeromic, per s. s. Newport via Colon (letters for Guardensia must be directed "per Newport"); at 11 a. m., fapplementary 11:30 a. m. for Fortune Island, Juncica and Jeromic, per s. s. Alvena (letters for Costa Rica) via Rementary 1:30 a. m. for Fortune Island, Juncica and Jeromic per s. s. Alvena (letters for Costa Rica) via Rementary 1:30 a. m. for Fortune Island, Juncica and Jeromic per s. s. Newport via Colon (letters for Guardensia).

SATURDAY—At 2:30 a. m. for Germany, per s. s. La Gescogne, via Haye, Sann, Pertugal and Turkey per s. s. La Gescogne, via Haye Sann, Pertugal and to keep per s. s. Saturaliand

Registered mail closes at 6 p. m. previous day. CHARLES W DAYTON, Postmaster

Political Notice.

"Who would be free, themselves must strike the blow." GOOD GOVERNMENT ORGANIZATION

CANDIDATE FOR THE ASSEMBLY IN THE TWENTY-FIRST ASSEMBLY DISTRICT, JOHN BROOKS LEAVITT.

The election of good men and true to the State Legislature was never more important than at the present time. When the Speaker of the Assembly can publicly declare, as he did last winter, and with apparent truth, that the laws of this State, so far, at least, as they affect this municipality, were dictated by and enacted on the order of an irresponsible "Pass" in this city, it behaves every of an irresponsible "Poss" in this city, it behooves every citizen who values individual liberty and government by an intelligent and untrummelled majority to look to their preservation.

If either of the candidates nominated by the regular party organizations of the district had been such as to give reasonable ground of belief in their liberty to act, and their willingness to act, primarily and persistently for the benefit of the city and the State, that one would have been supported by the Good Government Organizacircumstances of their nomination, these candidates can, neither of them, give any reasonable ground for such belief. Hence it is that a man of high character and unblemished reputation, a lawyer of ability and standing in his profession, has been put forward as an independent candidate. His freedom from changling alliances will enable him, if elected, to the his own convictions of official cuty, while his ability and character, familiarity with city. affairs, and opposition to the continued subjection of New-York to the Chief of Tommany Hall, give confidence than he will use such freedom for the public advantage.

JOHN BROOKS LEAVITT.

The undersigned residents of the Twenty-first Asset
District ask for him the sufrages of their fellow-citiz

Henry G. Marquand,
A. Newbold Morris,
J. Movius,
Max Nathan,
Wheeler H. Peckham,
John Harsen Rhoades,
O. L. Richard,
Julius Rudisch, M. D.,
John L. Riker,
J. W. Rinelander,
J. A. Roosevelt,
Jacob H. Schiff,
Gustav H. Schwab,
John Sloane, Prof. Felix Adder,
A. C. Berahein,
Hubert Cillis,
H. Fulton Cutting,
W. Payard Cutting,
Fredx. J. De Peyster,
George E. Dodge,
William Fahnestock,
M. S. Feebheimer,
David H. Greer, D. D.,
Arthur B. Graves,
Samuel Hammerstough

Arthur B. Graves,
Samuel Hammer-slough
Joseph W. Harper,
Thos. S. Hastings, D. D.,
William B. Isham,
John S. Kennedy,
F. Kruttia,
Joseph Laroque,
D. Mainzer,
Alexander Multiand,
and many others.

Gustav H. Schwab,
Gustav H. Schw

Religions Norices.

ALL SOULS' CHURCH, Madison-ave, and 60th-st., Rev. R. HEBER NEWTON, D. D., Rector.-Rev. H. R. HAWIES, M. A. of London, preaches at 11 a. m., an Rev. WILLIAM KIRKUS, LL. D., at 4:30 p. m. AN INTERESTING SERVICE, consisting of singing and recitations by a large choir of children, is every Sunday at 3:30 p. m., to which the public vited, at the Five Points House of Industry, 155 Wo AT KNICKERBOCKER CONSERVATORY, 44 West 14th-st., Mrs. HELEN T. BRIGHAM.—Questions answered, improvisations from subjects given by the audience. Lectures 11 a. m., 7:45 p. m.

CHRIST CHURCH, Boulevard and 71st-st., Dr. J. &. SHIPMAN, Rector.-Morning services, 11 o'clock. Eveng service, S. Sunday-school at 10 a. m.

CHURCH OF THE ASCENSION, 5tn-ave, and 10th-st. Rev. PERCEY L. GEANT, Rector—Seats fr.e. All welcome. Service Sunia, November 5: Holy Communion at 9 a.m.; service, serimon and Holy Communion at 11 a.m. Evening service (chocal), 4 p. m. A short-ched service in the chapel 12 West 11th-st., at 8 p. m. The Rector will officiate.

CHURCH OF THE ASCENSION, 10th-st, and 5th-ave.
Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock Gounod's "De Profundising be sung by a large choir.

CHURCH OF THE ETERNAL HOPE, 81st-st., between Columbus and Amsterdam aves., Rev. E. C. BOILES. D. D., Pastor.—Subject, 11 a. m., "Our Creed—V. Goodness, the Eternal Law of God. Victorious es Last." S p. m., Mrs. L. ORMISTON CHANT, of Loudon, England, well known for her ability and philaschropic work, will preach. All welcome.

CHURCH OF THE MESSIAH, corner of 34th-at, and Park-ave.—Services at 11 a.m. Preaching by Rev. ROB-ERT COLLYER, subject: "Our Daily Bread." The pub-lic corduly invited.

EGLISE DU SAINT-ESPRIT, 30, 22e. rue, Ouest.-Services religieux le dimanche a 10bh. du matin et e th. du soir. Rev. A. V. WITTMEYER, Rectaur.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH-BROOKLYN.

IN THE ACADEMY OF MUSIC. Meraing sermon,
"The Progress of Christianity." Eveniar sermon, "In the Home Circle." CORTLAND MYERS, Proches, Morning music, Mrs. Zigpora Monteith Fischel, solo as,
Mrs. Fischel and Mr. Pardo, ddet; and male quarted, Messrs. Pardo, Whittaker, Dwight and Brocolini, Evening music, Mrs. Chas. Tyler Dutton, soloist; Mrs. Dutten and Mr. Pardo, duct; and quartet. Congregat onal singing led by a string quartet.

HOLY TRINITY CHURCH, Harlem, Lenex-ave., corost 122d-st., Rev. Dr. BRIDGMAN, Rector.—Morning prayer, strmon and Holy Communion at 11 o'clock. The Rector will officiate. Evensed at 1 p. m. Evening prayer, with sermon by the Rev. ARNOLD H. REDDING, at 7:45

SOCIETY FOR ETHICAL CULTURE.—Lecture Prof. FELIX ADLER, at Music Hall, corner 37th and 7th-ave., at 11:15 a. m. Subject, "The Politi Situation in New-Yors; Who Is Responsible For It All interested are invited.

ST. STEPHEN'S CHURCH (Episcopal). West 46th-st. between 5th and 6th aves. Rev. CHARLES R. TREAT, Rector.—Special services, commemorative of the reopening of the church for public worship. Holy Com-munion, 10 a. m. Morning prayer and Holy Communion, with historical serano, 11 a. m. Evening service, with addresses by clergy of neighboring churches, 8 p. m.

TEMPLE EMANU-EL, 43d-st. and 5th-evo.—At 21 a. m., Dr. JOSEPH SILVERMAN, on "Ethics of Good Citizenship."